

16th Sunday in ORDINARY TIME

16/17 July 2016

On May 13th, Pope Francis said to business leaders:

"The fight against poverty is not merely a technical economic problem, but above all, a moral one, calling for global solidarity and the development of more equitable approaches to the concrete needs and aspirations of individuals world wide." "Business leaders need to build the foundations for a business and economic culture that is more inclusive and respectful of human dignity."

on the Sacrament of RECONCILIATION:

A power of the priesthood

This power to forgive sin which Jesus conferred upon his Apostles was not, of course, to die with them; no more so than the power to change bread and wine into his Body and Blood, which he conferred upon his Apostles at the Last Supper.

Jesus did not come upon earth just to save a few chosen souls, or just the people who lived on earth during the lifetime of his Apostles.

Jesus came to save everybody who was willing to be saved, down to the end of time. He had you and me in mind, as well as Timothy and Titus, when he died on the Cross.

It is evident then that the power to forgive sins is a part of the power of the priesthood, to be passed on in the sacrament of Holy Orders from generation to generation.

It is the power which every priest exercises when he raises his hand over the contrite sinner and says, "I absolve thee from thy sins in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen." These are called "the words of absolution."
