Preserve Marriage

Soon the Australian Parliament will consider a bill to redefine marriage. This is just the latest in over a dozen attempts to redefine marriage in Australia in the last decade. However the consequences of redefining marriage are significant. The only way we can preserve the natural, timeless and sustainable definition of marriage is for people to speak up. Sign the online petition to the Australian Senate to let our politicians know that this important bedrock institution of Australian society should not be redefined. Online petition can be found at <http://marriagepetition.acl.org.au/>
